Small Group Tour Japan Itinerary

Experience Traditional Japan in Kyoto

Kyoto, the "thousand-year capital", is synonymous with traditional Japan , evoking images of ancient temples, Shinto shrine(s), geishas in kimonos, the quiet tea ceremony, cherry blossom season , and Zen gardens. Originally named Heian-kyo ("capital of peace and tranquility"), Kyoto became the seat of the imperial court beginning in the year 794 until 1869, when the capital moved to Edo (modern-day Tokyo). Heian-kyo was renamed Kyoto (simply, "capital city") in the 11th century, and retained a lot of its traditional architecture as it was spared from bombings during World War II.

It is also in Kyoto where Japan formed its identity, veering away from more than a century of Chinese influence and fixation on China's Tang Dynasty. Here they developed their phonetic script distinct from Chinese characters, compiled their own poetic forms, and developed uniquely Japanese themes in their paintings.

While Kyoto (birthplace of videogame powerhouse, Nintendo) has certainly embraced the future, walking through certain parts of the city still feels like stepping into old Japan. On our sightseeing tour, we will visit numerous ancient temples of Buddhists and shrines. Ryoanji Temple and its famous rock garden used to be an aristocrat's villa that was converted into a Zen temple in 1450. This Buddhist temple now belongs to the Myoshin-ji school of the Rinzai sect of Zen Buddhism. Its rock garden is a fine example of kare-sansui ("dry landscape") a Japanese garden design which features rock formations arranged on raked smooth pebbles to facilitate meditation.

We will also visit Kinkakuji Temple, also known as the Golden Pavilion as the structure's top two floors are completely covered in gold leaf. This ancient temple overlooking a pond used to be the retirement villa of the shogun Ashikaga Yoshimitsu.

From there we move to Nara , the capital of Japan from 710 to 784. In Nara , we will visit the stunning Todaiji Templeand the beautiful Kasuga Taisha Shrine. We will also spend time in Nara Park with its hundreds of free-roaming deer. If time allows, we will have the opportunity to participate in an authentic Japanese tea ceremony.

Peace and Sacred Scenery in Hiroshima

Moving southwest from Kyoto, we enter Hiroshima, a major urban centre in the 1870s during Japan's imperial period, and a city destroyed in an instant in August 1945 with the dropping of the atomic bomb during World War II. Hiroshima made an impressive recovery after the war, and is now home to more than two million people.

We will travel from Kyoto to Hiroshima by train, visiting the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Museum, erected in remembrance of the devastation and the lives lost in the bomb attack. The adjacent Peace Park, built near the hypocentre of the blast, is dedicated to the hope of a lasting peace. The moving “Statue of Mother and Child in the Storm” created by sculptor Hongo Shin stands along Peace Boulevard, depicting a mother cradling an infant and lifting another child clinging to her back, expressing the city’s continued advocacy for the total abolition of nuclear weapons. The Peace Park was built around the bombed ruins of the Hiroshima Prefectural Industrial Promotion Hall, which is now known as the Genbaku (A-Bomb) Dome and left untouched to serve as a memorial.

We then visit the island of Miyajima (“Shrine Island”) less than an hour off the coast of Hiroshima. Miyajima’s real name is Itsukushima, which Buddhist monk Kobo Daishi (Kukai) established as an ascetic site for the Shingon sect of Buddhism in the 8th Century. In 1643, a Confucian scholar, Shunsai Hayashi, travelled around Japan on foot and called Miyajima one of the “Three Most Scenic Spots in Japan”. His high praise remains accurate. Miyajima is famous for the UNESCO World Heritage site of Itsukushima-jinja, featuring the red torii (shrine gate) which at high tide seems to float on the water.

Our trip to Hiroshima also includes a guided sightseeing tour, by private car, that takes us to Shukkei-en Garden (“shrunken-scenery garden”), a garden replicating the traditional aesthetics of Japanese garden design in miniature, and the magnificent Hiroshima Castle.

The Castle Town of Matsue

From Hiroshima we travel north to Matsue, also known as the “City of Water” as it is near the Sea of Japan, sitting between Lakes Shinji and Nakaumi.

Matsue is a castle town crossed by many canals and has one of the twelve remaining original castles in Japan. As Matsue is a former feudal stronghold, its buildings and layout reflect its history. We will visit the Adachi Art Museum and gardens to gain an understanding of the art of Japan. For its creator businessman, Adachi Zenko, the Adachi is about finding and appreciating beauty through art, as seen through the tranquillity of the garden or the painted world of the Japanese artist.

The Mountain Resort of Hakone

After Matsue we take a short flight to Haneda, to make a trip to the mountain resort of Hakone, famous for its hot springs resorts (onsen) and breathtaking views of Japan's iconic volcano, Mount Fuji. We spend the day in the Hakone National Park, and at the end of the day there is the opportunity to enjoy a traditional spa package in the hot springs.

This Japan Tour closes with Tokyo

Tokyo is Japan's capital and one of the world's most populous cities. It has been the seat of the Emperor of Japan since 1869 following the Meiji Restoration, and is a bustling centre of fashion, entertainment, gastronomy, and culture. When we first arrive in Tokyo, we have a full day of sightseeing followed by two free days which you can use at your leisure to explore the city. The metro is accommodating for people of all ages, and the signs are in English and Japanese. The diversity of places to visit and experience can easily fill the last two days of this Japan tour package. The ancient city of Kyoto was the home of the Emperor for 11 centuries over 1,200 years ago. Numerous temples and shrines of poignant historical beauty in Kyoto display the refined architecture of Japan. Kyoto's legacy of aristocratic art and culture makes Kyoto unique among other cities of Japan. A "heartland" for many Japanese people, Kyoto is the place to encounter the finest essence of traditional Japan.

On our second day in Japan, we will enjoy a sightseeing tour by private car. This includes visits to some beautiful traditional temples, among them the Ryoanji temple, home of a picturesque and famous rock garden, and Kinkakuji Temple, the top two floors of which are covered in gold leaf.

Here we'll learn about Hiroshima's recovery and growth to become a city with a population of 1.2 million citizens.

We then travel by local train and ferry to visit the sacred island of Miyajima, where roaming deer will welcome us. Miyajima, which means "Shrine Island," has been worshiped since ancient times. The main entrance to the floating shrine building takes the form of a huge Torii gate floating on the sea. This forested island is well-known to the Japanese as one of the Scenic Trio of Japan.

During the afternoon, we experience the beautifully landscaped garden and carefully curated art collection at the Adachi Museum. Fuji, which is considered to be the most beautiful and sacred mountain in Japan.
