Sofia, Bucharest and Budapest | Small Group Tour

Join Odyssey Traveller on this adventure as we travel from Sofia to Budapest, taking in Bulgaria, Romania, and Hungary with this small group tour of Sofia, Bucharest and Budapest. This corner of Europe has been at the crossroads of civilisations for over 2,000 years and there are reminders everywhere. Thracians, Romans, Ottoman Turks and the Austro-Hungarian Empire have all contributed to a rich tapestry of crumbling ruins and archaeological treasures.

Until recent years, Bulgaria and Romania were rarely visited destinations but since the fall of the Iron Curtain and communist dictatorships in 1989, this has all changed. These countries have now emerged from isolation and have so much to offer the inquisitive visitor.

Travelling from Sofia to Budapest

The Sofia, Bucharest, Budapest small group tour focuses on how historical influences have shaped these countries. Throughout our tour we will see dramatic reminders of the region's ancient heritage:

- Thracian tombs and rock carvings
- Roman ruins
- Medieval castles and fortresses
- Ottoman-era mosques and architecture
- grand Austro-Hungarian buildings and icons
- Communist-era monuments, palaces and museums

We visit magnificent wooden churches and monasteries filled with relics, walk along the cobbled lanes of picturesque villages, and admire ancient timber-framed houses. The Prejmer Fortified Church, one of the many fortified churches in Transylvania, Romania, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

We explore treasure-filled museums and galleries, wander through parks, forests and along beaches. Evenings may be spent watching the world go by from local cafes and restaurants in this relatively "undiscovered" region of Europe.

This tour will take you through a rural landscape relatively untouched by the modern world and you can look out upon hand-ploughed fields. These countries also offer a diversity of wildlife, and stunning scenery seen rarely in the rest of Europe.

We cross mountain ranges, drive through beautiful forests, pass glacial lakes and sandy beaches beside the Black Sea. We even have time to visit a salt mine, animal sanctuary, and winery.

Learn about the people and the culture

We will learn that Bulgaria and Romania are not homogeneous societies and offer considerable cultural diversity. Ethnic minorities such as the Roma, Magyars, and Germans have a distinct nature.

Think Romania, think Dracula. We visit several castles associated with Vlad the Impaler. Although Romania traces its ancestry to the Romans, contemporary fiction associates Transylvania with vampires and other such horrors.

Our program concludes in Budapest, the vibrant Hungarian capital set on the Danube River. You will be impressed by this global city, today an economic power-house but formerly the co-capital of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. A city with 2,000 years of settlement boasting diverse architectural styles and a range of museums, theatres and cultural institutions. Budapest has been identified as one of the most beautiful cities in Europe and you will soon see why.

We will be accompanied throughout the tour by an Odyssey Program Leader. In all countries, there will be knowledgeable English-speaking local guides to assist in the interpretation and presentation of information.

We travel around the region in a comfortable modern coach at a slow pace with frequent stops.
