Bhutan small group cultural tour
17 Apr 20 to 03 May 20

Cultural tour of Bhutan:

The Bhutan small group cultural tours are an unhurried journey set in an ocean of calm in a crowded continent. Bhutan is scenically magnificent. The snow-capped mountains of the Himalayas rise above jungle-covered hills and verdant green river valleys where farms and villages are clustered. Bhutanese culture remains almost untouched by the outside world. Centuries of Buddhist tradition inherited from Tibet, their Northern neighbour, shape this land with art, dance and music. Today, Bhutan measures itself in terms of ‘gross national happiness’ instead of GDP. A dignified and hospitable people, the Bhutanese will welcome you to share their distinctive culture, and unpolluted

Small group tours Bhutan itinerary:

From the moment you arrive at Paro airport you enter a different world. Our tour of Bhutan takes in the majestic architecture of Bhutan’s many sacred sites and traditional centres of political power. On our trip, we visit many huge dzongs (or fortresses) and make time to see Buddhist artworks within these and the many smaller temples that dot the country. We also take in traditional Buddhist monasteries, including the iconic ‘Tiger’s Nest’ (Paro Taktsang), which clings to the mountainside above Paro valley. Our tour also visits the remote Haa valley, only recently opened to tourism.

We also explore the capital Thimphu, where we visit the National Museum, and a paper factory where you can see paper crafted by hand. Our tours in Bhutan are generally scheduled around a traditional festival, where you can join the Bhutanese people in commemorating their third king.

Further afield we will visit botanical gardens to view Bhutan’s exotic fauna, including Bhutan’s national animal, the gentle takin. At the National Textile Museum, we see and learn about the creation of Bhutan’s distinctive woven fabrics. We also explore markets where trade continues almost unchanged with the passage of time and have a guided tour of a traditional medicine hospital. We also trek through a beautiful river valley to see an old manor house that hosts a museum of life in earlier days.

A comfortable tour, where English is the second language:

English is Bhutan’s second language. You have time with the local guides to wander and meet local people throughout your travels. Travel around Bhutan in a comfortable modern coach at a slow pace, accompanied by knowledgeable local guides as well as your tour leader. Accommodation is in clean, modern hotels that nonetheless retain Bhutanese character. You dine on fresh and healthy local produce during the tour.

Frequently asked questions about our tours of Bhutan:

• How can you visit Bhutan?

In order to protect the natural beauty and unique Bhutanese culture, Bhutan’s government requires that visitors come through organised tour packages such as an Odyssey tour. You must register to join a tour to apply for a visa, which will only be issued once you reach Paro airport. For more information about the process, take a look at these articles.

Please don’t let this put you off visiting Bhutan – the process is surprisingly simple and quick. Remember that limiting numbers in this way helps to keep Bhutan such an extraordinary destination – and contributes to it being the world’s only carbon negative country.

• Is Bhutan safe for tourists?

Absolutely! Bhutan has one of the world’s lowest crime rates, likely lower than that in your home country. Nevertheless, make sure to exercise the same caution that you would anywhere in the world.

• When is the best time to visit Bhutan?

Spring and autumn are the best time to visit, as winter can be chilly and summer is monsoon season. Reflecting this, Odyssey’s tours leave in April and September each year.

Our cultural tours of Bhutan are a unique opportunity to see one of the most exotic lands on earth. Bhutan is truly independent, selecting those aspects of the modern world that it needs while retaining its own colourful and fascinating culture. Bhutan is a special place, a destination you will always remember with pleasure and a memory you will always treasure.

Overview: In the morning we drive to Bumthang via Yotong La (approx. 4 hours). Bumthang is Bhutan's second biggest town and an ancient centre of religious beliefs. Spread out widely over a valley, Bumthang is an ancient trading centre and has a number of sacred sites associated with Guru Rinpoche, who is believed to have introduced Buddhism into Bhutan in the 8th century. In the afternoon we will visit Jakar Dzong situated on a ridge above the valley, the 7th century Jambay Lhakang, and the 17th century Kurjey Lhakang. We stay overnight in Bumthang. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gongkhar Guesthouse or similar

Day 9

Locations: Bumthang/Tang Valley

Overview: In the morning we drive to the beautiful Tang valley (2 hours drive, each way) where there are several small temples and relics beside a flowing river. We walk across fields and up a hill to Ugyen Chholing Palace, an old manor house that is now a richly endowed folk museum. The palace is located on top of the hill at the village of Kizum, the walk up takes approximately 45 minutes each way. We will take lunch in the gardens overlooking the valley before returning to Bumthang in the late afternoon. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gongkhar Guesthouse or similar
Day 10

Locations: Bumthang

Overview: Today we take a three-hour day walk to Ngang Lhakhang (3 hours walk and also accessible via our vehicle if needed), a Buddhist monastery in the Cheokhor Valley of central Bhutan. A private temple, Ngang Lhkahng was built in the 16th century by a Tibetan lama named Namkha Samdrip. We return to our hotel in the evening for dinner. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gongkhar Guesthouse or similar

Day 11

Locations: Gangtey

Overview: From Bumthang we travel to Gangtey in the remote Phobjikha valley with a stop at Chendibji, where there is a mani wall of sacralised stones and a temple in the Nepali style that is said to ward off the threat from a demoness who formerly lived in this valley. We will have time to stop and enjoy views and sites such as wildlife and yak-herding camps beside the road as we cross mountain passes. The drive today will take approximately 8 hours. We stay overnight in Gangtey. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Hotel Dewachen or similar

Day 12

Locations: Gangtey

Overview: Gangtey is the seasonal home of the Black-necked crane, which migrates across the Himalayas between Gangtey and northern Tibet. We will visit Gangtey Gompa (one of Bhutan’s oldest monasteries and recently extensively renovated) and have the opportunity to walk through the valley and view rural Bhutan, with its distinctive farmhouses and hospitable people. The walk starts at the Dewachen hotel and passes by the Black-Necked Crane Information Centre, which has lots of information on the valley and its famous migrating birds. From here the clients walk to Beta Village where there is a small school, which they are welcome to visit if it is open. Then the walk continues to Gangtey Gompa from where they can walk along the...
Gangtey Nature Trail, past Semchubara village, through forests of blue pine trees covered with lichen (known as old man’s beard) and where they can hopefully see some birds. The walk continues from the end of the nature trail to Kingathang village where they can visit a temple built by the Queen Mother. From Kingathang, we walk via Yusa village back to our hotel. The valley is almost entirely flat, and the walks are along a gentle path, the total walk is around 13 km but our vehicle will be available to pick us up at any point of the walk. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Hotel Dewachen or similar

Day 13

Locations: Paro

Overview: Today, we drive to Paro (approx. 8 hours), stopping on the way to visit Chimi Lhakhang, a temple built in the 15th century by the Bhutan’s famous religious folk-hero, the “Divine Madman” Drukpa Kinley. This popular temple is considered a fertility temple, and many young couples visit it in order to be blessed with children. After we arrive, we have some free time to walk around the city and do some souvenir shopping. We stay overnight in Paro for 4 nights. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gangtey Palace Hotel or similar

Day 14

Locations: Paro

Overview: This morning we enjoy some more sightseeing together in Paro, visiting the Rinpung Dzong, a large monastery and fortress tracing back to the Drukpa lineage of Kagyu School. It houses the district Monastic Body and government administrative offices of Paro Dzongkhag. We also visit the National Museum, which features a rich array of displays concerning Bhutan’s religion, culture, and natural history. In the afternoon, we visit the-7th century Kyichu Lhakang, one of Bhutan’s most sacred sites, and the 17th-century Drukgyel Dzong, with its extraordinarily vivid wall paintings. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gangtey Palace Hotel or similar
Day 15

Locations: Paro

Overview: In the morning we drive 30 mins to do the Dzongdra kha hike. The walk 15 minutes from the road to the main temple. Dzongdra kha, also known as Dzongdra nye, is a sacred place of Guru Rimpoche dating back to the 8th century. In the 14th century, the treasure-hunter Gonpo Dorji discovered a crystal stupa and relic of the Buddha on this site. In the afternoon we drive to Sangchen Choekor and have a picnic lunch. Visit the temple and drive back to visit Drugyel Dzong. We walk around town in the evening. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gangtey Palace Hotel or similar

Day 16

Locations: Paro

Overview: We rise earlier than usual to visit the spectacularly situated Taktshang monastery, a highlight of any visit to Bhutan. This involves a hike of 3-4 hours to reach the site, on a 900 metre ascent up to the monastery at 3120 meters. There’s a possibility to hire a horse to go up to the halfway point if required. There is a tea-shop around the half way mark which provides excellent views of the monastery, and some visitors are content with reaching this site. We return in time for lunch, and the rest of the day is at leisure in Paro. (B,L,D)

Accommodation: Gangtey Palace Hotel or similar

Day 17

Locations: Bangkok

Overview: We depart Bhutan from Paro airport in the morning. On arrival in Bangkok, we say our farewells and the tours comes to a close. We recommend booking a late evening flight out of Bangkok. (B)
