Normandy, Brittany, Channel Islands tour

Odyssey Traveller’s fully escorted Anglo French small group tour is designed for senior or mature travellers and couples or solo travellers are all welcome. The Normandy, Brittany, Channel Islands tour begins by exploring the northwest corner of France. We then cross the English Channel to the tiny autonomous Channel Islands of Jersey, Guernsey, and Sark. The tour finally spends two nights on the historic Isle of Wight before concluding in London, England.
Itinerary of the Normandy, Brittany, Channel Islands tour

Our fully escorted Small group history tour combines the dramatic scenery of Normandy and Brittany with the quirky history and natural beauty of the Channel Islands, including the Isle of Wight.

After an initial night in Paris, we move to the peaceful verdant landscape of Normandy.

Our tour begins in earnest by heading to Giverny, stopping off on the way at Monet’s House and Gardens. After a walking tour of the Gardens, we continue to Rouen where we have time to explore this area. Our coach continues to Bayeux for an overnight stay and dinner at a local restaurant.

Our next stop is Normandy, with its diversity of landscape and rich heritage. Normandy derived its name from the Viking Norsemen who made Rouen their capital. Here, the image of apple orchards, contented cows, cider, and pungent cheese belies a more turbulent past. After the conquest of Britain it became part of the Plantagenet Empire and is now regarded as a typically French region. Normandy’s peaceful pastoral landscape belies its historic conquests and devastating experiences during World War II. Our small group tour also explores Normandy’s D-day Beaches, museums, and monuments. Here, we learn about how Normandy’s history has been inextricably linked to that of Britain. How its history, heritage, and culture have been influential since the time of the Norman Conquest in 1066. You experience Normandy’s historic cities, its typical villages, its artistic heritage, local produce, and cuisine.

We then travel to Brittany. While here, we experience the strongly separate Celtic culture on a wild seafaring peninsula dotted with mysterious standing stones and dolmens. Other highlights of this educational tour include visits to Brittany’s Standing Stones at Carnac. We also explore the fortified port of Malo and the ancient Concarneau. Before departing for the Channel islands we stop to explore and learn about the iconic World Heritage site the Monastery, Mont St Michel.

Leaving the Carentan peninsula by ferry, we take the short crossing to the Channel Islands of Jersey and Guernsey. These islands boast charming historic ports and towns such as St Helier and St Peter. You learn on the Anglo French small group tour that the islands are not part of the United Kingdom but are British Crown Dependencies. They are a delightful mix of English and French culture. While tiny Sark is like a medieval hereditary time warp with its formal gardens of La Seigneurie and lack of motor vehicles. Here, we take a walking tour of the Island of Sark, with its strong and quirky history of self-governance.

We also have the chance to see the Isle of Wight, a favoured holiday spot for Britain’s royalty in the Victorian and Edwardian eras. The Isle of Wight is known for its stunning coastal scenery, its world-famous sailing, and the old world charm of its Victorian seaside resorts. It has a rich history. Queen Victoria had her summer residence and final home, Osborne House, built on the island where we enjoy a private tour of the house whilst staying in the Island before concluding the tour in London.

We will have dinner at the hotel. Measuring less than 120 square kilometres, the Bailiwick of Jersey is a British Crown Dependency off the coast of Normandy, and together with the Bailiwick of Guernsey (less than 80 square kilometres) it forms the grouping known as the Channel Islands. These are separate possessions of the British Crown and are not part of the UK. Their history and culture are influenced by their strategic location between the northern coast of France and the southern coast of England. Formerly under the control of Brittany, invaded by Vikings, and annexed to the Duchy of Normandy, they emerged as miniature self–governing territories. The islands have a seafaring tradition and their trade with the Newfoundland fisheries gave rise to the name New Jersey in the US. Trade further laid the foundations of these attractive islands' prosperity as well as agriculture (Jersey and Guernsey cows are recognisable the world over), milling, fishing, shipbuilding, and financial services. Each island has its own heritage and patois, but during World War II they were the only part of the British Isles to be occupied by Nazi Germany. Both islands boast charming historic ports and towns such as St. Helier and St. Peter Port as well as famous former residents like the actress Lillie Langtry (the Jersey Lily) and Victor Hugo, who wrote some of his best-known works while in exile in Guernsey.

Accommodation: La Pomme d'Or or similar.

Day 15

Locations: St. Helier

Overview: On Jersey we learn about the island's history and culture as we explore the capital St. Helier on a guided walking tour. We learn about the occupation of the island with a visit to the Jersey War Tunnels. Built by the Germans during World War II, over 1km of tunnels maze their way beneath Jersey's surface. We then finish the day with visits to the iconic lighthouse in Corbierre and stop off at the beautiful St Aubins Bay.

Accommodation: La Pomme d'Or or similar.

Day 16

Locations: Jersey to Guernsey

Overview: After breakfast we visit Elizabeth Castle, which has stood guard over Jersey for more than 300 years. We will have some free time for more exploring before boarding the ferry to Guernsey, where will explore the bustling cobble-stoned streets of St. Peter Port. We tour the island and view its soaring cliffs and rural backdrops, before making our way to the hotel for a group dinner.

Accommodation: 3 nights at Duke of Richmond Hotel or similar.
Day 17

Locations: Guernsey

Day 18

Locations: Guernsey

Overview: We will take a ferry to the neighbouring islet of Sark to visit its Seigneurie Gardens, where we take a scenic carriage ride. On arrival we'll transfer to Portsmouth for an overnight stay.

Day 20

Locations: Cowes

Overview: After breakfast we take the ferry to Isle of Wight and on arrival enjoy a full day exploring the island. Late afternoon we transfer to Cowes where we stay overnight, where a meal is provided. The Isle of Wight is England’s largest island, separated from the mainland by the Solent. The island is known for its outstanding natural beauty, its world-famous sailing, and the old world charm of its Victorian seaside resorts. It has a rich history, including a brief status as an independent kingdom in the 15th century. Until 1995, in common with Jersey and Guernsey, the island had its own Governor, most notably Lord Mountbatten. It was home to the poet Alfred Lord Tennyson, and to Queen Victoria, who built her much loved summer residence and final home Osborne House at East Cowes. The island’s maritime and industrial history encompasses boat building, sail making and the manufacture of flying boats. The island has some exceptional wildlife and is one of the richest locations of dinosaur fossils in Europe. On the Isle of Wight, we learn about the geology and history of this island with a guided tour to include the historic Victorian seaside resorts of Ventnor and Shanklin. We will see the dramatic coastal scenery of the Needles, the old port of Yarmouth, ancient Carisbrooke Castle which once held Charles I prisoner, Newport, the island’s capital, and Cowes, famed for its sailing regatta.
